The Template & Extension Management Module enables the automated distribution of Document Templates and Office Suite extensions.

Based on the Workplace roles and rights system OpenOffice.org users get a personalized and up to date overview of the document templates that are available and relevant for them and they get just the right OpenOffice.org extensions they need for their job.

The O3Spaces Document & Extension Management Module is a hot-pluggable OSGi module.
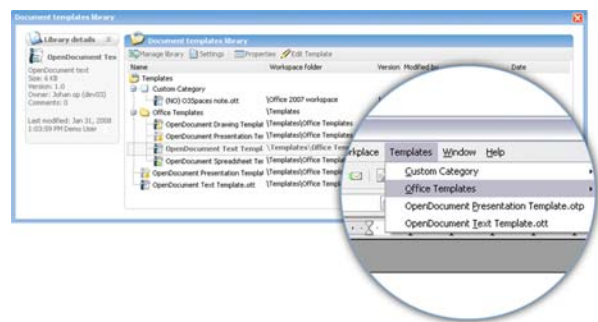

OpenOffice.org / StarOffice Template Management

By adding the O3spaces Template Management module organizations can easily tackle the template management hurdles found in many environments.

The O3Spaces Template Management Module offers:

→ A single controlled environment for both documents and document templates.

→ A single repository for managing OpenOffice.org / StarOffice macros and additional extensions.

→ Automated creation of dynamic OpenOffice.org / StarOffice end-user menus.

→ Security, role based rights management governing the distribution, use and creation of templates, template structures and the personalized OpenOffice.org / StarOffice menu's.

Document Template Library

The O3Spaces Template Management Module extends the Workplace Studio environment with a Document Template Library. The Document Template Library allows you to control which templates, e.g. From which Workspaces, should be included in the OpenOffice.org Template Menu.

It also allows you to customize the OO.o Template menu structure.

The end user will automatically be presented with only those Document Templates which he is allowed to access.

Centralized versioning, security and personalization

Another benefit of the Document Template Library is that it allows for Document Templates to be created, edited and versioned as 'normal' documents, directly benefiting from the Workplace repository's document management features.
